MY PROJECTS

API NEXUS - Export Statistics of São Paulo Municipalities

I am currently engaged in a Scrum-based project at my academic institution, aimed at developing a website that presents critical data regarding exports from São Paulo, Brazil, to international markets. The primary objectives for the initial sprint encompassed the creation of a functional prototype using Figma, the development of responsive data visualizations utilizing Google Colab, the management of a GitHub repository, and the delivery of features as per the client's specifications.
